I came to the website to sign the guestbook and instead have spent the past hour reading over 100 emails from others about Marty and have been richly blessed once again by his testimony - a solid and sure Christ-centered life lived out among us daily. His influence on hundreds at LeTourneau University over the years will continue to span the globe for the glory of God. Thank you, his family, for sharing him with us. His presence will be missed, but the lives he touched will be the better for it. I'm so sorry I live here locally but was unable to make the visitation or funeral services. Having just lost my Dad to leukemia in May, I have experienced a taste of what you're going through, and you will be in our prayers. Jeanne, Sarah, and Daniel; My heart was heavy when I heard the news of Mr. Donner. I do apologize for not making it to the services, but I was on the east coast and not able to make it back. Mr. Donner always showed so much kindness to me, and I always will remember him for that, especially when he came to the hospital to visit me. I will always remember him as a kind, tender hearted man that loved God and was very devoted to his life of service at LeTourneau. My best memories of Mr. Donner are when I would come back to school to visit and he was so interested in how I was doing. It made me feel as though I was the most important student he ever had, but I know that he treated all of us that way. May the Peace of God be with You. Jeanne, Sarah, Daniel and family, The funeral for Marty was the nicest funeral I've ever attended. Thank you for sharing with us. Marty was a special professor and colleague of mine. My deepest sympathy is extended to the family and friends of Mr. Marty Donner. I enjoyed his leadership and friendship during my college days at LeTourneau. He indeed was a very "precise" teacher, upholding the highest of teaching standards, and also expecting the same from his pupils. After over twenty years, I still remember his class devotional series through the book of Nehemiah as he brought the book to life for me. I can also remember early morning classes with him when he was known to occasionally throw chalkboard erasers at sleeping students. I was once accidentally hit when he missed one such sleeper. I won't forget the "impact" of that day or the more important "impact" Mr. Donner had on requiring the very best from his students. May God richly bless Mr. Donner's legacy and his family! In Christ I Thes 4:13-18, Jon Hansen BS-ETAT D'81 Note: Mr. Donner's training still continues to impact my life as I live in Greenville, TX and am a electrical design manager for L-3 Communications, a defense company specializing in aircraft modifications, including Air Force One. ##imported-begin## Jon Hansen ##imported-end##

I just want to let the Donners know how sorry I am for their loss. Sixteen years ago; while I was in college, Marty helped me take care of a bad tooth. He could see something was bothering me and set up an appointment with a dentist. I dont know if Marty paid for the visit or just let the Dentist know I couldn't afford to pay; but the bill was also taken care of. For a struggling student this was a huge gift and a genuinely concrete way to touch another persons life.##imported-begin##David Farnham##imported-end##

Dear Jeanne, Sarah, and Daniel,Pat and I were so devastated to hear of Marty's passing.I believe it was in 1977 when I was in Marty's "carbs" class, which met early in the mornings. I would often doze off. Marty had a steel rod he called the "wake-up stick". He would snap this on the side of his podium. That thing was LOUD!! taught alongside Marty from 1993-1999, and especially recall co-leading summer labs with him. A daily ritual was assigning each student their ?pay?. He was always fair. That was Marty. Fairness, loyalty, honesty, integrity, love.In my office hangs a photo showing the LeTourneau Aviation faculty at the time of my departure. Marty is standing behind me, slightly to my right, sporting that world-class smile of his. Somehow I feel he'll always be standing close by me now.Marty was an outstanding Christian leader, and the world is forever blessed by the time he spent here with us. The Donners have been a fixture at LeTourneau, since they lived next door, and I always saw Jeanne in the bookstore when I was a student. They were friendly neighbors. And I admired their willingness to live next to campus, for a number of reasons. Mr. Donner was serious when it came to teaching us what we had to know, but I also remember his smile, and he did have a sense of humor.
