I just had to share with you, I know that this is a very difficult time for you all. I do not know you but have been praying for your family since friday. My son was in the car that was behind Mr Booth, he was one of the first ones there. He called me shortly after it happened, before the police arrived and I began praying at that time. I know God has a reason for everything and I do believe he had a reason for my son to be there. This has effected him more than I can say and I am praying that God will lead my son in the right direction because of this. Young people just seem to take life for granted. Please know that I pray for you every day and know the pain you are feeling. May Gods grace comfort you in this time.##imported-begin##Susan Ward##imported-end##
