To the families:Due to being out of town on vacation recently, we are just now getting time to view past obits and reading the words your dear Jeanne wrote requires a blessed comment even though we have never met her at all. Her comment about "how to acquire salvation" deserves a standing ovation! We both actually felt the Holy Spirit's presence when reading this written statement your sweet Jeanne wrote. This is what everyone should do...be a "witness for Jesus Christ" because it's not about US, it's ALL about HIM and what He did on that cruel, old cross, making a payment for our sins with His Own Blood! Rev 1:5As her "Saved" brother and sister in Christ, we can't wait to meet Jeanne in heaven someday soon...to God Be the Glory, Forever! Jesus loves you all, so do we!Not in sympathy, but in Glory to Jeanne!!!With love,##imported-begin##Keith & Donna Blanton##imported-end##

I did not know this gracious lady. The only connection I suppose is that we both came from Wisconsin. I was quite taken by the writing of her own obituary, something I have thought about for some time for myself. This is a victorious and inspirational obituary. My sincere condolences to her family.##imported-begin##Norm Hannigan##imported-end##

Jeanne was one of the best examples of a Christian woman I have ever known. She was sweet, kind and I never heard a cross word from her. How sad that it takes someone leaving life on this earth for us to appreciate their wonderful qualities. What a witness for Christ she was!##imported-begin##Donna Ford Burkhart##imported-end##

What a dear precious woman. I don't even know her but wept with joy as I read her remarks. I too am a lover of God and Milwaukee native. I'd love to visit with her in Heaven someday. May the Holy Spirit comfort you, as I know you'll miss her presence.##imported-begin##Catherine##imported-end##

i didnt know your mother but had heard what a dear true lady she was, after reading the obituary, it really made me wish i had, what a blessing to all that knew her, they are the most joyful words i have ever read about a life, if she wrote them, bless her heart for taking the time, if you wrote them, bless her again for being the person mothers wish their children to become, and bless you for being her making her so proud, you will pass this legacy on, none of us know the impact we make on others lives, it goes through the generations. and will be known all through the years. each thing we do is passed to people we will never know.it reminded me how fortunate we are to know GOD has a place for us, we all take this too much for granted, i will be sending copies to others and i am sure they will want to also. an inspiration creates a never ending circleshe would have liked that!!linda###imported-begin##linda k###imported-end##

What a blessing to have had a mother who in her passing has had such an impact on many who never knew her. A friend shared her obituary with a group of Christian frinds. We have been blessed beyond measure by this testimony.Judith Gangwere###imported-begin##Judith Gangwere###imported-end##

To know Jeanne was to love herWe will miss her sweet smile, her wisdom and her spunk ! In remembering her, we recall last year when little Avery and Jordan were born and her absolute delight and thrill at their births - she beamed as she giggled and laughed in telling us all about them. Jeanne was so "together" and even in her death, she shares her wisdom. We grieve our loss and rejoice in her victory.###imported-begin##Brenda and Jim Sanders###imported-end##

Jeanne will be greatly missed here by me and many others, but she is now with her beloved Lord and with Herb. For several years they sat together in church in the back pew beside the organ on Sunday mornings . Herb was in his wheelchair wearing one of his many beautiful sweaters, and Jeanne, always the lovely lady, sitting beside him holding his hand. It is wonderful to know they both have new bodies and are healed and Jeanne will once again get those hugs from Herb that she told me she missed so much.
