Your mother was a jewel. I only meet with her twice and she touched my life both times. I saw her on Dec 13 and she shared the story of every cross in her apartment. I will miss her dearly. I wish all my consumers could be like her. I was her social worker for her at home services.##imported-begin##Sandra Clark##imported-end##

Cannot express what Margie's passing means to me. The loss of a dear Aunt, a personal friend and treasured confident. The personal memories of her over my 65 years are worth their weight in gold. We have laughed and cried together and told some jokes over some meals. She was one of a kind. I know that the LORD was ready for her to come home, even if her earthly family was not ready for her to go. We will always have the BEAUTIFUL MEMORIES, I do, to cherish FOREVER.An irreplaceable jewel.THANK YOU FOR BEING YOU!##imported-begin##Carolyn Green##imported-end##
