Three years ago today was a day filled with so many different feelings. In the afternoon you left us to go home. I hurt in ways I didn't even know I could hurt. For weeks I prayed to God harder than I ever prayed in my life that he would heal you and make you whole again. I know He heard my prayers because He hears all prayer but he had other plans for you. He needed you there with Him. Just know my brother, I still miss you so much and thinking of you still fills my eyes with tears. I know I'm selfish for being this way; I should rejoice in your freedom from pain and strife. I love you my brother.##imported-begin##John##imported-end##

My sweet sweet brother! Oh how I miss you! We had thunder storms this morning and when Kaiser got upset I sat in the floor with him and whispered in his ear that Dad would watch over him and make sure the storms past quickly! He is such a sweet reminder of you! I know that you are loving all the fur babies & now your girl Angie is with you! I love you brother!##imported-begin##Nancy Harvey##imported-end##

Dearest Tonto, My heart still aches. Some day it may sink in that you're gone. It's still hard to believe. I miss talking with you, but most of all I miss your laugh. I have always considered you my best friend. It brings me comfort to know that you are home with the Lord. You are no longer suffering, and once again playing with Sam. To Roy's family, thank you so much for sharing your brother/son/uncle with everyone. He was such a joy to have around, and I loved him dearly. He loved to debate everything as much as he loved saving God's creatures. I truly miss him. He gave so much of himself, so selflessly. He was a blessing to us all.##imported-begin##Carol Stevens##imported-end##

My dear Brother, it was one year ago today we all gathered to bid you farewell. My heart hurts just as much today as it did the day you left us. I know I should rejoice in knowing you are free now, free of all pain and suffering. And I do take comfort in knowing you are not hurting, but that does not keep me from missing you and hurting so bad sometimes I can hardly breathe. Rest in peace my brother and save me a spot up there with you. I love you so dearly.##imported-begin##John Sallee##imported-end##

I am so sorry for your loss. Roy was truly a unique individual that was so cool. I loved hearing about his dogs and seeing their pictures, they were his babies. He was so committed to animal rescue. He was a genius when it came to computers and gave me other useful ideas that I continue to use at the farm. He will be dearly missed.##imported-begin##Anita Lehky##imported-end##

Roy was a unique individual as full of life as they get. He was always giving it what he had from work to taking care of his dogs. Although we lost touch from time to time, a phone call out of the blue was like picking up where we left off, just a few years older. He will be sadly missed as one of the original Koch gang we grew up with.##imported-begin##Bob Robbins##imported-end##

I met Roy over 6 years ago, in the white shepherd chat room. He was one of the first people I met there, and quickly became a friend, even though we were never able to meet in person. "Pappy" will be greatly missed on Friday nights. I know Roy made a huge difference for many dogs throughout his life, and that there was quite a reunion at the Bridge.##imported-begin##Beth Borchardt##imported-end##

Roy was one of our partners in North Texas German Shepherd Rescue. He loved the White German Shepherds, I liked black and silvers, and we argued many an hour over each other's personal preferences in color. Roy did love to debate! It's difficult to say goodbye to a good friend like Roy. What I'll remember most is that he loved animals, especially dogs, so much so that he saved their lives. Roy talked about a place called Rainbow Bridge. It is there where he is now reunited with all those who went before him, whether they walked on two legs or four.##imported-begin##Christina Eggenberger##imported-end##
