I am a substitute teacher at the high scool. I've had the pleasure of seeing Travis in many different classroom settings. Needless to say, you usually knew when Travis was anywhere!: The smile, the respect, the pure joy he always had to live. I'll always remember that. He gave me his autograph during his sophomore year as he said it would be worth a lot of money one of these days. He was going to be a famous football player. Last year, I told him I still had that autograph, and I still do. Travis truly touched people's lives. Words can't express how sorry I am. Remember the good and that, as the preacher said at his funeral, there is good in everything, even if we can't see it. My heart cries with you and for you--God bless.##imported-begin##wendy day##imported-end##

I was one of Travis' coaches at GHS his freshman year. Although I left GHS in 2005, Travis is one of the kids that you will always remember. He was great to be around and always left a smile on his friends faces. Travis would do anything that he was asked and he always respected those in authority over him. As an educator, it is always hard when you lose a student. I want to let every student know that you are all important to us educators. Feel free to talk to your teachers, counselors, or principals anytime you feel discouraged.I would like to extend my deepest condolences to the Scott Family and to the Class of 2008.##imported-begin##Former Gladewater Coach##imported-end##

I want your family to know that Travis was very special to me and I remember him with fondness and warmth. As his 10th grade English teacher, I always enjoyed having him in class, reading his assignments, and hearing his outrageous stories and jokes. His smile was always genuine and he had so much potential-he was unique and charming and I am so sad that the world will go on without him. Travis will be missed by all.
