Debbie Dayton was a very positive, loving, and warm woman. When I think of Debbie, I will always remember how much she and my brother loved each other. They truly seemed to delight in each other's company. I loved to listen to Debbie talk to her daughters on the phone. Again each statement she made was so affirming and so caring. Debbie loved to cook. She loved cookbooks and cooking magazines. She loved the color red and was really proud of her red cowboy boots. During her illness each time we visited was an inspiration. She and Bobby handled her illness with dignity, grace, courage, love, and humor. You can truly say her life was a life well lived! We will miss her.##imported-begin##Barbara Moxham##imported-end##

We will always think of Debbie as such a sweet, dear heart! She had a spirit of contentment about her and knew how to be happy over little things. She never seemed to want to make herself the center of attention, but was instead busy doing God's work in the background - listening, encouraging, caring, loving, and serving. We feel certain that Jesus smiled and said "Well done, thou good and faithful servant" when He took her hand, and now she walks with Him in a place where there is no sickness and no sorrow. Debbie had a big life in all the truly important ways and her passing leaves a big empty place. But we are all blessed, and better, for having known her. Bobby, our hearts are with you now. We cannot say how much we admire the selfless dedication you have shown to Debbie in your loving care of her throughout her long illness. May God hold you up now and give you peace. Our love to you, to Debbie's folks and daughters, and to all the families grieving and missing her. We are holding you close in thoughts and prayers. Love you all! Shari, Howie, Maeggie and Bobby

I knew the kind of person Debbie is before I even met her, I have the privilege of being married to her oldest daughter Allison. They share so many qualities unending love, self sacrifice, compassion and a mothers' non-judging wisdom, the qualities that I see in Allison and fell in love with. So my children and I benefit every day from the great example Debbie set for her children. Before her illness she showed her love in all the thoughtful things she did and said, after her illness she showed her love with a loving touch, a smile especially when looking at her grandchildren and a look in her eyes that I feel was meant to show how much she loved us. I can't explain in words the hole left in our world without her, she is missed every day. I will make it my mission to show and tell my children Reese & Nathan how much their granny loved them. They will get a lifetime living example of granny through their mom throughout their lives and for that I am thankful. We Love You! Kevin Cooper Allison's Husband
