Aunt Sharon lit a candle in honor of Becky Lynn.

I took a trip with Becky, Joyce, Susie and Charlie. We were riding the narrow gauge train between Durango and Silverton Colorado. After exploring Silverton we got back on the train. All the windows were open and along came an old miner pulling a burro behind him. He started yelling Ol' Clematine where are you? Becky's Momma, Joyce yelled Here I Am, Here I Am. Becky started laughing so hard then we all started laughing and it spread thru the train. Good memories! I love you Becky and will truly miss you. Aunt Sharon

I was a family friend that lived two houses down from Becky & Allen when we were kids. I was at their house everyday. Becky was a sister to me. We would play jokes on Allen, aggrivate Ms. Joyce. Becky even tried to teach me how to cook. Well let's say Becky cooked an I ate it. I ran with Allen because I was the sporty type. Becky meant so much to me. I know she is happy now an would not come back if she come. No more pain, no more curl world. Just one day very soon we will see you again Becky. I love you. Rhonda Turner Smith Gladewater, Texas
