Oh my! I just had lunch this past Wednesday (just last week) with Jack and Leslie at McAlisters! How precious now are those memories! None of us never know, do we? I was sitting at a table and in they walked, and Jack asked me if I had time to come sit with them and visit? We talked about his battling leukemia and his treatments; because that is what our son, Jeremy, had; so I was most interested in Jack's struggles then too! Then we talked with Leslie about school starting back this fall? But then, we of course, spent the most time talking about his favorite sports team (the Texas Longhorns)! He wondered how that they were going to do this fall, and if we were going to get to go to a game? As I parted I told him to "hang in there"; not knowing now that was the last time that I would ever get to talk to our dear friend, whom we ow will really miss! God bless you Jack and take care of Jeremy for us till we get there to see both of you guys someday once again. Love you!!!!!!
