On days like today I miss Chris more than anything. He lived up here with me in NY twice and he wasn't just a cousin but he was a brother. We talked almost, if not every day via text throughout the day and he always joked about me not answering my phone. You are really missed Chris. Wish I could send you a text.

Chris and I met at a Fire protection function in Dallas and became fast friends. He always talked about coming to Colorado to visit and do some mountain biking with his daughter. Chris had a passion for life and a love for his family. I always enjoyed talking with him. Chris, you will be greatly missed!

Chris to me was a brother. He was my best friend and confidant. We shared many great memories since we met over a decade ago. I could talk to him about anything for hours on end. I will truly miss my best friend. Things will never be the same without you.
