Ashley Claiborne sent a virtual gift in honor of Thurman.

Ashley Claiborne: I was thinking about Thurman & Paula today. 12/20/23, as I did everyday. They use to go into my Dad's Auto Parts off High St, come to our house for cook outs, lake, etc.... with my Dad, Mom, Brother, Vince, Bubba, & I. Something just told me to look this up, and I am so sorry for the loss of Thurman. He was like an Uncle to me. We would always go to the apartments and cook out, do Paula's hair, etc. I have so many memories of them. Rip, Unc Thurman. He was family to us through so many years!!! "All of them are together again"!!!! 🙏🙏

Last night I looked at the clock and thought how has it been a week since Unk left this world. It gave me peace knowing that he was a saved man and in heaven for him it only felt like minutes. Knowing him you knew his passion for his family and friends in that he loved everyone big. Although my heart is completely broken it makes my heart so happy that he was surrounded by his family during the last moments of his life, hearing how much we loved him, and he did not pass alone. It was a complete privilege to be there to tell him thank you and I love him for being what we lovingly simply called him as Unk. In those three little letters contain a lifetime of memories and love. Until we meet again Unk I will forever cherish my sweet memories of you ❤️ fly high you definitely were a Freebird!

I knew Thurman when I was just a little girl. He hung out with my cousins the Beardens. I remember Thurman could really dance, and my mama thought I could too. So one afternoon she made Thurman and I dance together to my cousin's jukebox they had in their playroom. I will always remember that, and remember Thurman. He was a good guy. RIP friend.
