wooden puzzles and dominoes, birdhouses, and wooden rolling pins for baking.

He loved to fish and spent many a weekend at Sam Rayburn Lake and Toledo Bend Lake with his family and good friend B.A. Green. He also had vegetable and flower gardens wherever he lived and would share his bounty with friends and relatives. For a time he had many animals he raised. Chickens, geese, rabbits, turkeys, pigs and a milk cow.

He was hardworking and also resilient. Survived his house burning down, in his 20's, and he rebuilt it. Survived a yellowjacket attack, in his 80's, of over 1000 stings and resulting coma for 8 days. A medical miracle the experts reported.

He loved life and never met a stranger. Loved by family and friends he was a true testament to his faith. Served as a Deacon in many Baptist Churches, a personable and kind gentleman.
